UCSF FRESNO

FAMILY MEDICINE FACULTY POSITION

The UCSF Fresno Medical Education Program and the Central California Faculty Medical Group (CCFMG) are recruiting for a physician to join the teaching faculty. The successful applicant should be board certified or board eligible in Family Medicine. California licensed or eligible to obtain a California license. This position provides an opportunity for teaching, clinical research, and community practice. Proficiency in OB optional. Administrative/leadership opportunities are available. A competitive salary is offered.

The program is based in Fresno, California, where residents enjoy a high standard of living combined with a low cost of living. The result is a quality of life uniquely Californian, yet surprisingly affordable. Limitless recreational opportunities and spectacular scenery is all accessible in a community with abundant affordable housing. While there is much to see and do in Fresno, the city is ideally located for fast, convenient getaways to the majestic Sierra (just 90 minutes away) as well as the scenic Central Coast, just two and one-half hours away. Fresno is the only major city in the country with close proximity to three national parks, including renowned Yosemite National Park.

Interested applicants should apply online at https://aprecruit.ucsf.edu/apply/JPF000319

FAMILY MEDICINE FACULTY OPPORTUNITY WITH ALBANY FAMILY MEDICINE OF COMMUNITY CARE PHYSICIANS AND ALBANY MEDICAL COLLEGE

A private network of primary care specialists connected with the only area Academic Health Science Center, Albany Family Medicine is looking to expand to meet a growing patient base. The practice is located in the Capital Region of Upstate NY, at the crossroads of the Adirondack and Catskill mountains. We are equidistant from Boston and NYC; both within a scenic two hour drive. If you are interested in joining a practice known for its collegial, caring group of physicians and non-physician providers, looking to expand into areas of interest like community outreach, geriatrics, sports medicine and women’s health; we are the practice worth considering. Our practice offers a state of the art facility with PharmD resources on site. We have had more than 5 years experience with EHRs and are part of a pilot reimbursement initiative to convert to a Patient Centered Medical Home Practice within our health center. Our area offers affordable housing, excellent public and private schools, safe neighborhoods and a great place to raise a family.

Medical student and residency education are of utmost importance in our group. We use both a tertiary care and a community hospital for inpatient medicine and obstetrics. Opportunities exist to teach and practice alongside students and residents. Up to date clinical skills are also of utmost importance. Current faculty have interests in alternative medicine, OMT, women’s health, OB/GYN, global health, adolescent medicine and geriatrics. Faculty consists of seasoned clinicians and educators as well as those more recently trained - a nice balance of a working team who complement one another. We are still growing and expanding into other new areas and there is room for more people to join the group.

Boston University Department of Family Medicine Seeks Fellows Interested in Academic Careers in Family Medicine

The Boston University Department of Family Medicine is seeking family medicine physicians for its Academic Family Medicine Research Fellowship. This two-year program (July 1, 2016-June 30, 2018) is designed for individuals whose career goals include productive research careers and/or medical education. Fellows do a mix of clinical work at Boston University Medical Center and independent research while earning their Masters of Science degree at Boston University School of Public Health. We have a 16 year track record of successfully training the next generation of scholars in family medicine and are currently funded by an academic T32 NRSA grant housed in our department. In collaboration with General Internal Medicine and General Pediatrics, we train approximately 15 fellows per year on a combination of NRSA, HRSA, NIDA, and AHRQ training grants. The department this year has $9M in grant funding and for the past 10 years our graduates have successfully obtained K awards that have led to major research funding in Integrative Medicine, Health Care Disparities, Disabilities, Medical Anthropology and Global Health. Our fellows have gone on to productive careers in academic medicine, research, administration, public health, and medical education.

DO YOU WANT A FAMILY MEDICINE CAREER WITH ENDLESS POSSIBILITIES?

FAMILY MEDICINE FACULTY DEVELOPMENT FELLOWSHIP

Our fellowship is the longest continuously running, full-time faculty development fellowship in the country, and provides interprofessional training and collaboration with our PharmD clinical pharmacy residency.

We develop Family Medicine educators to become master teachers, exemplary clinicians, collaborative researchers, and effective leaders.

Our fellowship is structured around five core Domains:
• Teaching & Learning
• Professional & Leadership Development
• Administrative & Management
• Research & Scholarship
• Clinical Care

Yet it is flexible and we tailor it around each fellow’s goals, needs, and interests.

We offer two fellowship tracks:

CLINICAL EDUCATOR (CE)
This is our original track. Those in it are given time to pursue a degree in either public health (MPH) or medical education (MME) if they choose to do so.

CLINICAL RESEARCH (CR)
This is our newer track. It is a collaborative multidisciplinary effort with established programs at the University of Pittsburgh that builds on the CE track and provides time to pursue a Master of Science degree in clinical research.
